

Kevin E Bowser

Short Bio

Kevin is the husband of a beautiful and amazing woman. He is the father of two amazing children and father-in-law to an equally amazing daughter-in-law. He is “Papa” to three of the smartest and cutest kids on the planet.

He is a prolific writer and blogger on the topics of leadership, leadership development, mentoring, organizational change, emotional intelligence, and young leaders. He speaks to many groups on these topics as well as on specific topics for men, husbands, and fathers. He is a gifted communicator and has the ability to weave humor and truth together in a very unique way.

Kevin has spent his entire adult life working in various leadership positions in non-profit and ministry oriented organizations. He has served on boards and leadership teams overseeing local churches, day care centers, and college extension campuses. Kevin is also solid leadership and management professional with more than 35 years of leadership experience at all levels of business and the supply chain lifecycle.

He is an average golfer, a much better photographer, and a great storyteller.

You can find most of his older articles on <http://leadershipvoices.com> and more of his newer articles related to his latest book on <http://emotionallyagileleader.com>

Extended Bio

Kevin is the husband of a beautiful and amazing woman. He is the father of two amazing children and father-in-law to an equally amazing daughter-in-law. He is “Papa” to three of the smartest and cutest kids on the planet.

He is a prolific writer and blogger on the topics of leadership, leadership development, mentoring, organizational change, emotional intelligence, and young leaders. He speaks to many groups on these topics as well as on specific topics for men, husbands, and fathers. He is a gifted communicator and has the ability to weave humor and truth together in a very unique way.

Kevin has spent his entire adult life working in various leadership positions in non-profit and ministry oriented organizations. He has served on boards and leadership teams overseeing local churches, day care centers, and college extension campuses.

Kevin Bowser is a solid leadership and management professional with more than 35 years of leadership experience at all levels of business and the supply chain lifecycle. He has worked in data center operations, application design and programming, systems support, vendor management, inventory control, strategic planning, strategic sourcing, contract administration and major capital project advising.

In October of 2010, he transitioned into a completely new role. He was asked to become a Contract Administrator for a major commercial real estate general contracting project to build a new campus for ExxonMobil. This project became the largest civil and structural engineering project in all of North America and competed with New York City's Freedom Tower in terms of size and scope. And more recently in 2014 he took on another role in major capital projects. This time the project was in western Africa. These projects have turned into more projects in Canada, China, India, and Malaysia.

On September, 2016 he transitioned once again. This time he joined the Global Sustainable Procurement Team within ExxonMobil and is looking to identify and develop diverse suppliers in the U.S. and around the world.

In addition, Kevin has spent his entire adult life working in various leadership positions in non-profit and ministry oriented organizations. He has served on boards and leadership teams overseeing local churches, day care centers, and college extension campuses.

He is an average golfer, a much better photographer, and a great storyteller.

You can find most of his older articles on <http://leadershipvoices.com> and more of his newer articles related to his latest book on <http://emotionallyagileleader.com>

Specialties: Emotional Intelligence, Leadership Development, Coaching, Organizational Diagnostics and Analytics, Team Building, Communications, Strategic Planning, Strategic Sourcing, IT Planning and Implementation, Contract Administration, Change Management, Supplier Diversity, Sustainable Procurement